THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL,

- P1. Emphasising the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the commitment of all member states to uphold and protect human rights and fundamental freedoms,
- P2. Acknowledging the contribution of Switzerland to international public health and research initiatives including the World Health Organisation (WHO),
- P3. Recognising the need for stronger international law and collaboration to address issues of peace and human rights,

- O1. Urges all member states to strengthen their national legal policies by introducing international frameworks and institutions to better protect human rights and ensure equal access to justice for all individuals,
- O2. Encourages multilateralism and peaceful cooperation to ensure effective international legal frameworks can be achieved.
- O3. Recommends the development and dissemination of educational programs and public awareness campaigns to promote understanding and respect for human rights and justice, focusing on marginalized and vulnerable groups to ensure equitable representation and awareness,
- O4. Calls for granting further power to UN “peace enforcer” forces, to intervene to stop conflict, including the provision to carry firearm weapons at all times,
 - 1. Requests that “peace enforcer” forces are given access to nuclear arms to reinforce their powers and ability to prevent conflict,
 - 2. Supports that any war catalysed or started by the “peace enforcers” will be trialled in the ICJ.
