THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

1. Recognising the importance of international institutions, particularly the United Nations in maintaining global peace and security,
  2. Acknowledging the positive efforts of international institutions regarding peacekeeping, specifically in deploying peacekeeping missions that contribute to global stability and demonstrate their continued relevance,
  3. Concerned by persistent reservations that international institutions may compromise national sovereignty and interfere in domestic affairs,
  4. Emphasising the need for reform in global governance mechanisms to better reflect the voices and interests of developing nations,
  5. Noting with regret the perceived inaction of the UN Security Council on longstanding conflicts, including Kashmir and Palestine, despite repeated appeals by affected states.
1. Calls for reforms to ensure impartiality, transparency, and equitable treatment of all Member States by international organisations,
  2. Urges international institutions to respect the sovereignty and domestic jurisdiction of states— especially those with different legal and cultural values— and to refrain from politically motivated interventions that may undermine national autonomy,
  3. Encourages Member States to strengthen dialogue between international institutions and developing countries to promote mutual understanding and rebuild confidence, especially for non-Western countries,

4. Supports the creation of an independent review mechanism within the United Nations system to assess claims of unequal treatment or selective enforcement of international norms,
5. Requests international legal bodies such as the ICC to uphold fairness and due process, and to consult states on matters impacting national sovereignty before pursuing investigations or actions.
