THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

- P1. Recognising the need to maintain a credible minimum deterrent in line with the doctrine of strict sufficiency considering current geopolitical tensions,
 - P2. Recalling the commitment to non-proliferation and nuclear disarmament made in the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty 1970,
 - P3. Observing the stagnation of open and good-willed discussions regarding nuclear disarmament,
- O1. Encourages the implementation of confidence-building measures — including transparency on nuclear doctrines, advance notification of major military activities, and strengthened crisis-communication channels — to reduce miscalculation and reinforce strategic stability amid heightened geopolitical tensions.
 - O2. Calls for the development and implementation of transparent and verifiable mechanisms — including data exchanges, advance notifications of major military activities, and regular expert-level consultations — to ensure full compliance with obligations under key international treaties, particularly the NPT, as well as the negotiation of further treaties, like the Fissile Missile Material Cut-off Treaty (FMCT), to ensure progress toward nuclear disarmament is made.
 - O3. Recommends the establishment of voluntary multilateral forums where all nuclear-weapon states can engage in renewed, structured, and good-faith dialogue, with the aim of restoring momentum toward verifiable and incremental nuclear disarmament.
